CLOUD CONNECT

Create a fast, secure cloud connection

Moving applications and workloads to the cloud is no longer a trend but a necessary part of digital infrastructure evolution.

However, accessing the public cloud is not without challenges:

○ Response time for cloud-based applications through public Internet is not good enough. The Internet is unstable and ridden with unpredictable latencies and packet loss which are aggravated over longer distances.

○ Storing data in the cloud makes it more secure. These benefits could be lost if the data is being accessed over a public network.

The full potential of public clouds can only be reached with the right network.

APTUM CLOUD CONNECT

Aptum's Cloud Connect enables enterprises to establish private, direct and secure connectivity to multiple partner clouds using dedicated MPLS circuits that ensure that your traffic bypasses the uncertainties and latencies of a public Internet connection. Our Fastfiber™ network spans multiple continents and Cloud Connect leverages this network to bring MPLS-like secure and private connectivity, even to cloud services.

Aptum Cloud Connect creates a private connection between the cloud partners, your data centers, and your application users, ensuring that you get all the benefits of a public cloud such as reduced cost, burst and hyper-scale capabilities without any of the risk.
